El Molino has gathered an impressive range of tiles with Low Slip potential as they rate +36 PTV, for use in commercial settings.

Ideal for high-traffic areas, this catalogue offers suitable designs for a variety of commercial applications delivering superior and durable performance.

Slip accidents occur generally on wet surfaces, not clean dry surfaces.

Measuring slip-resistance can be an important part to prevent and asses slip risk.

PTV stands for pendulum test value.

It measures the slip-resistance of a surface.

Tiles with a +36 rating offer the least risk for slips.

The pendulum test is portable and can be used in real workplace conditions, where slip accidents happen.

The pendulum is a reliable and accurate test and has been adopted by several Health and Safety authorities as its standard test method for assessing slip risk in both dry and contaminated conditions.

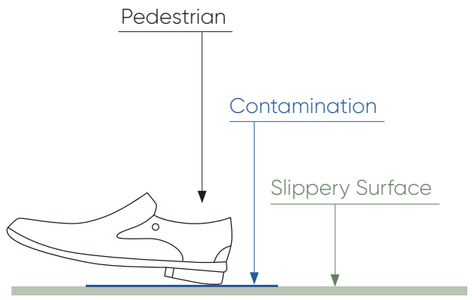

PENDULUM TEST

European Standard UNE 41904:2017

British Standard BS 7976:2002

The pendulum test is designed to replicate a pedestrian heel strike, the point at which most slips occur.

This test works in wet conditions and accurately test the slip potential on clean and dry or contaminated floors.

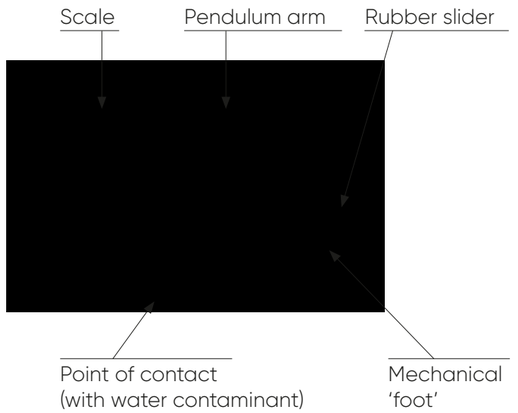

Pendulum Test Values should be interpreted as shown in the table below.

This table relates to pedestrians walking in a straight line on a level surface.

Slip Risk	Pendulum Test Value (PTV)	Class
High Slip risk	0 – 24	Class 0
Moderate Slip risk	25 – 35	Class 1
Low Slip risk	36+	Class 2
Extremely Low Slip risk	45+	Class 3

PTV slip probabilities if straight walking on a horizontal surface are:

- PTV of 20 indicates a 1 in 2 probability of a slip.
- PTV of 24 indicates a 1 in 20 probability of a slip.
- PTV of 27 indicates a 1 in 200 probability of a slip.
- PTV of 36 indicates a 1 in 1 million probability of a slip.
